About the AKNWRC:

Formally organized in 2015, the Alaska Native Women’s Resource Center (AKNWRC) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to providing technical assistance, training and outreach with Alaska’s 229 tribes and allied organizations. AKNWRC board members are Alaska Native women raised in Alaska Native Villages and have 150 years of combined experience in tribal governments, nonprofit management, domestic violence, and sexual assault advocacy (both individual crisis and systems and grassroots social change advocacy at the local, statewide, regional, national and international levels), and other social service experience. AKNWRC’s philosophy is that violence against women and other violent crimes in a tribal setting is rooted in the colonization of indigenous nations. For more information, visit www.aknwrc.org.

The new AKNWRC Advocacy Training and Technical Assistance Center is based on a unique concept. Similarly to the birth of the resource center, Alaska Native Advocates (Advocate Organizers) with decades of experience serving victims of gender-based violence in remote villages with limited resources, have worked together to develop an Alaska Native culturally specific advocacy curriculum used to train advocates. The next steps will be developing an advanced training curriculum for webinar delivery; implement an advocate mentoring network to create additional support; and create a 24-hour Crisis Technical Assistance Hotline to support Advocates in meeting the immediate needs of their clients.
